Barisieur, a tea and coffee brewing alarm clock

This ingenious smart home device will ease your day with the sound of bubbling water and smell of freshly brewed tea or coffee. Designed to sit comfortably by your bedside, enjoy a fresh cup of English breakfast with fresh milk, or a delicate green tea from the comfort of your covers. The Barisieur encourages a night-time routine which helps you wind down and prepare for sleep.

You are more likely to fall asleep faster, get a better night's rest, and then wake up more easily, becoming alert faster. Being stimulated by multiple senses helps you to focus and wake up more gently. A delicious smelling brew is a great way to do this as noone looks forward to that cold kitchen floor as you make your way to get your first cuppa in the morning.

Pynk, a platform for investors around the world

Pynk is a global community that works together to make better investment decisions for all and provides a new model for investors around the world. It started from a simple observation: everyday investors lose a lot of money. Most individual investors, whether amateurs or professional fund managers, simply can't outperform the market over a consistent period of time.

Rather than rely on any individual subject to bias, Pynk takes predictions and forecast data from its crowd, then the AI identifies who to listen to, at any point in time, for any given asset. Thus creating the world's first Crowd Wisdom 0% fee managed portfolio.

Aura changes the way we approach

death

The death market is large, growing and is ready to be brought into the digital era. Founded by Paul Jameson, Aura is working with a number of charities, organisations and partners to build a network of expertise and commercial opportunities with the aim of changing the way society deals with death.

The platform will provide a wealth of features including the ability to document wishes and practical information, collaboratively curate a life story and to leave heartfelt messages to those that matter most. There will also be a knowledge hub with help and expert advice. Aura plans to generate revenue through affiliate deals with service providers, subscriptions and product sales.
